THE GREAT BROMLEY FUN DAY 2009

The Great Bromley Fun Day took place on 13th June. The event was organised in response to the Village Appraisal conducted by the Parish Council in 2007 in which villagers had indicated that they would like to see something in the village that would bring people together. The response on the day, which was held in conjunction with the Hamilton Lodge Fete, was truly excellent with attendance exceeding expectations.

It is worth recording here that a number of stallholders from outside the village commented on how genuinely pleasant and friendly everybody was - young and old - and this is something of which the village should be justifiably proud.

Feedback is most welcome and comments, suggestions - good and bad - can be fed back to Neil Skinner, Bill Kempster, Ken Bromfield or any of the organising committee.

Proceeds from the day will be shared between local organisations taking part, the Village Hall and the Church Fabric Fund.

The Chairman would like to thank all who helped make the day a success and in particular the organising committee whose efforts often went above and beyond the call of duty.

IT'S ALL HAPPENING HERE

The village has been buzzing with activity during June and looks to do so again during July.

The Fun Day on 13th June dawned sunny and warm and proved a great success. I was sorry to have missed it but all those I have spoken to about it thoroughly enjoyed the event. In the photographs (see pages 4 and 5) everyone looks happy and relaxed - even the girl in the stocks!

This month Little Bromley is holding their Summer Barbeque and Fete at Mulleys Farm and St George's church have their Flower Festival over three days when you can enjoy the flowers, watch the Morris Dancers, go up the church tower, refresh yourselves at the BBQs and relax at the 'Cello concert followed by a supper. I hope the weather is once again kind for all these occasions.

The Friendship Club are having an Auction and the school children at St George's School are going on trips and doing all sorts of exciting things. This is also the month of the Tendring Show. This year the Playgroup are exhibiting in the Educational Tent so do go and see their mini beasts. The Tendring Show is a lovely location to meet up with friends and also to see, in their marquees or on their stalls, the work that some of our advertisers get up to and create.

The Village Hall Committee had their A.G.M. recently and as you will see in their report on page a number of committee changes have taken place after long serving and hard working members have retired. We all use the Hall at some point during each year and like all committees, this one works very hard to constantly keep our Hall well cared for and a pleasant place to use by the different organisations, groups, individuals and for special village events.

I have been away with a friend on a Wholecloth (Durham) Quilt course at Wroxham Barns in Norfolk. This is the second such course I have been on there. Five days, in which we design our pattern before finally marking up our material ready to quilt. Believe me it is hard work and five days is only just long enough. However we did have some time to play and, one gloriously fine sunny evening after a huge rainstorm during the afternoon, we hired a put-put boat and chugged up the River Bure and into one of the Broads. We saw black swans, mute swans and cygnets, grebes, geese with their goslings etc. Because of the earlier storm there were few boats about so it was all very peaceful and pretty in the early evening sunlight.

GREAT BROMLEY VILLAGE HALL CHARITY TRUSTEES

REGISTERED CHARITY NUMBER 301310

It's been quite a month, huge projects starting, long serving people leaving, new people starting and large events happening.

This month has seen the retirement of the treasurer, Lynda Allam, having served for 16 years, the retirement of Bevan Willgress, secretary for 11 years, Peter Wenden, former chairman of the committee and Dennis Simons who has audited the accounts for many years. Tracy Griffiths has taken over the bookings and Dean Dasley is the new treasurer. Neil Skinner is in the new post as the minutes secretary. A big thanks to all those who have left for the work and effort they have put in over the years.

New persons on the committee are Dinah Jones, Jayne Bates, Debra Pasque and David Beech.

What a great day was had by all on the Fun Day. The first event on the site for 15 years. The seed was planted with the questionnaire that circulated around the village a couple of years ago. The weather was great, the visitors numerous and the fun fantastic. A big well done to Neil Skinner and his committee as well as all the helpers and workers who worked tirelessly so that we could all enjoy it.

Big things are happening, the Hall is to have a new roof. The old roof has been leaking for some time so the bullet has been bitten and the go ahead has been given by the committee. Lots of work has already been done behind the scenes with Fed Nichols getting quotes and Ken

Bromfield from the Parish Council obtaining grants. Bryn Jones has agreed to keep an eye on the project and the committee is hoping for a September start. The Village Hall will be open as normal, the re-roofing will NOT affect the day to day running of the Hall.

An induction loop system (for the hard of hearing) is also to be fitted and more good news in that the hire charges for the Hall are to remain unchanged.

There are some great forthcoming events for you to enjoy and support. A Cabaret Evening (with the singer from last year's Murder Mystery) to be held on Saturday, 21st November. More details to follow and on Saturday, 5th December the Christmas Fayre, again more details later. The committee is still short of someone to audit the Hall accounts. No need to attend meetings! Not even a committee member, just audit the accounts in April. Please contact us if you can help.

Next meeting Tuesday, 28th July at 7.30pm.

That's all for now. Thank you for your support with the Funday and please put the forthcoming event dates in your diary.

FRIENDSHIP CLUB

FUN DAY

What a glorious day weatherwise - just sitting in the sun watching all the various activities and children running around was a treat considering all the 'health and safety' we hear about. The Friendship Stall (bric-a-brac) was a success with many thanks to everyone who donated and supported us. Special thanks to the members who manned the stall.

Don't forget the AUCTION on our usual meeting day, 16th July. Bring articles you don't want which we can sell to boost our funds - everyone welcome - come along to the Village Hall from 2.30pm onwards. NO competition this month.

ST HELENA HOSPICE

Although it has already been out occasionally, it is hoped that the 'Little White Table' in Briar Road, Great Bromley will be out on a regular basis as from July, offering fresh flowers, fruit and vegetables on a small scale as they become available. There are also water colour paintings for sale. All money raised at the table goes to the Hospice.

Tendring District Council has decided the following planning applications:

Bush Farm, Hall Road – demolition of existing agricultural/domestic buildings and erection of replacements.

Land south of Harwich Road – erection of agricultural storage building and workshop.

Great Bromley Funday

The Funday on Saturday 13 June proved to be a great success and the council warmly thanks all those spent considerable time and effort in its organisation. A full report and pictures can be found elsewhere in the magazine.

The next meeting of the Council will be at 7.30 pm on Thursday 9 July 2009 at Great Bromley Village Hall.

GARDENING TIPS FOR JULY

Someone once told me that in this country we don't have a climate we only have weather; with the last few days into the start of June we have had climate, let's hope it continues!

The drawback is we have to keep using the watering can: hanging baskets, pots and tubs need watering every day.

Flowers

For large blooms on your chrysanthemums reduce the stems to six and begin disbudding. Tie in the young shoots of dahlias, if long stems are required for cutting, disbud some of the shoots, leaving only the strong terminal buds.

Keep removing the faded flower heads of annuals to encourage them to keep flowering.

Dwarf and intermediate bearded irises may be divided early in the month.

Tall varieties may be divided at the end of the month. Water until divisions are established.

Vegetables

Earth up brussel sprouts to stop them being rocked by the wind.

Late globe beetroot, carrots, lettuces and radish can be planted this month.

Plant out autumn and winter cabbages.

Harvest when ready dwarf beans, broad beans, early runner beans, summer cabbages, carrots and cauliflowers.

When digging up first and second early potatoes leave them on top of the ground to dry off, then store in large paper bags. DO NOT store in plastic sacks, the potatoes will soon rot.

Tomatoes should have their first trusses of flowers now so keep them well watered and when the first fruit are set start feeding once a week. Any of the well known tomato fertiliser will do.

Fruit

The blackberries and loganberries will be ripening this month; it goes without saying they must be protected from the birds.

Gooseberries are the first soft fruit to ripen and freeze very well. We are still using gooseberries that we froze last year.

FROM THE PAST

PROVISION OF WATER IN 1933

In those days some houses depended on wells and some were lucky enough to have a pump. The Guildhall tenants had a pump but it was replaced in 1933 by Parsons and Son of Manningtree, telephone number 1933.

Parsons were Building Contractors, House Decorators, Sanitary Engineers. The Guildhall lead pump had failed. It was replaced with a new 3½" one. The wooden casing was painted. Sides were in pine, the front and back in match-boarding, also there were new irons needed and a 12' suction pipe and make good the gulley—all at the cost of £7 8s 0d.

Parsons also were proud to completely furnish funerals.

No doubt Joslin's of High Street, Colchester provided the pump and its fittings.

CARPET BOWLS

We are well into the summer league by now, latest match results are:: Against Silver Dawn we lost 8-1 away but won 6-3 at home, the two Walton matches were 7-2 win at home and 8-1 defeat away. A 5-4 win at home to Clacton-on-Sea, but two match losses 5-4 away to Highwoods and 6-3 away to Wix. Some of the games went to the wire and lost or won on just the one shot, could have gone either way but were all well played. Just three more matches left to play.

members and friends enjoyed a splendid meal and lots of chat and swapping stories etc. Although just recovering from a recent fall, Joe managed to attend, driven over from Brightlingsea by his son, Gerald, who joined us for the evening. We wish you well, Joe.

ACCIDENT AT THE BLACK BOY

A villager sent me this set of photos of an accident at the crossroads by the Black Boy (now The Courthouse Inn) at Great Bromley. The car, which is thought to be a Morris, was registered in Essex (VW) in June 1927 and the overturned lorry (EV) was registered in March 1931.

The course will be ten weeks long starting at 2.30 p.m. and finishing at 4.15 p.m. (a fifteen minute tea break included)

The fee will be £43.50 per person

The course tutor has written the following about the course:

Are you impressed by the landscape's immense variety - and would like to know how it achieved its appearance? In this course we seek explanations by studying the processes which have shaped scenery ranging from the volcanic eruption reported on the news, to the river we see on our local country stroll. To start with, we look at the grand scale - the pattern of continents and oceans, mountain ranges, earthquakes and volcanoes. Our attention then turns to landforms such as those found in the British Isles, and how they were shaped by rivers, glaciers and the sea acting on a variety of rocks. These themes are examined through many explanatory diagrams and illustrated by photographic evidence, including a "pictorial visit" to one of our most attractive stretches of holiday coastline. Course members will be offered the chance of a guided visit to the Earth Galleries (formerly Geological museum) in South Kensington.

NATURE'S DIARY

I thought I would start a new column of the wildlife with which we are so fortunate to share our surroundings. I am not an authority so if any of you have any input and would like to share it, maybe even with photographs, please do send it to me.

I felt this month I should start with the butterflies. Last year was not good for butterflies (and insects in general) but this year so far things are better. Look out this month for the Large, Small and Green Veined White butterflies, the Brimstone, Red Admiral, Peacock, Comma, Speckled Wood, Meadow Brown, Small Heath, Holly Blue and Essex Skipper. The Painted Lady has come over in large numbers from the continent this year but I have (for the second or third year running) yet to see a Small Tortoiseshell.

Look out also for Shield Bugs which are small flattish beetles. The Hawthorn and Green Shield Bugs are easy to identify and there are others such as the Coreus marginatus that you will also find in your gardens plus others which are a bit smaller. Damselflies and dragonflies are now about. There are blue-tailed and common blue damselflies in Great Bromley which are easy to see and identify - don't forget the male and female are often different colours. Damselflies often perch on leaves and tall grass in the sunshine. The dragonflies - hawkers and darters - are more difficult to identify as they constantly patrol looking for prey. If you see one land in a certain place before flying off again, be patient as they often return to the same place which is used as a lookout.

This spring I had the largest mass of toad and frogspawn I have even seen in the pond but I am not sure how many survived the hungry beaks which seek them out. However the garden is full of toads and frogs of all different sizes from fully mature to half size ones and hopefully some of this year's tadpoles will be joining them. There is a toad by our back door which we have to be careful not to step on at night when we take out the dog last thing.

Libellula depressa
(Broad-bodied Chaser) f.

Keep an eye open for the buzzards towards

Lt Bromley and listen out for the tawny owlets who are out of their nest - there appear to be three - and 'squeaking' each evening in the trees for their parents' attention. They 'squeak' for about 6 weeks when it all suddenly stops, when I presume they are old enough to forage for their own food. To my delight the other day I saw a barn owl flying gracefully along by the side of the road at hedge height at 8.00am up towards New House Farm looking absolutely beautiful.

Suspicious Circumstances - Mary Lane North

News letter for the month of May 09

An 87 year old woman who lives in Kirby le Soken received the following phone call from a male, "Hello Mrs xxxxx, you have inadvertently overpaid £1000 in to an account and we wish to pay it back as soon as possible into your bank account can we have the details of your bank card" The lady started to give her details but when asked to turn the card over and give the three numbers on the back, something rung a bell in her mind and she put the phone down. Not to be undone the scammer rang back and asked her to complete the transaction, but she put the phone down. She phoned her son who contacted the bank and sorted things out there.

It doesn't finish there, the next day a woman phoned her with the same request and she put the phone down. It was a scam as the woman had not paid any money into any account she shouldn't have done & certainly not £1000

None of the callers stated where they were from and no Bank was referred to at all.

Please be aware that a company called WW help limited are in the Tendring area requesting clothing. Please ignore their request and donate any clothing to a genuine charity shop.

Also that people are receiving phone calls from people claiming to be from Sky TV asking for bank details. If you are a Sky customer they should have your details. Please do not give out any personal or bank details over the telephone. Should you receive a call from someone claiming to be from Sky TV asking for details advise the person that you will call Sky direct to verify details. Please do not call the number that is given to you by them use the number that is on your bill.

Finally a company called Clacton Reinforced Paving Ltd are making unsolicited calls in the area. This company are operating out of a travellers' site so please be aware.

THE RECTORY, GREAT BROMLEY

Dear Friends,

Generally most people are superstitious to some degree or another. By a superstition I mean a belief for practice which is irrational and which usually results from ignorance or fear. Of course there are many examples of superstitious beliefs or practices. There is a belief that bad luck will strike the person in front of whom a black cat passes. Then there is the belief that tragedy will befall a person who walks under a ladder, and that you shouldn't cross people on the stairs. Good luck charms such as horseshoes, coins, locketts and other religious medals are kept or worn to ward off evil or bring good fortune. We have often heard that one magpie will bring sorrow and two will bring joy! And then of course there is the belief that everyone born at certain times of the year are categorised under star signs.

In general, superstitious beliefs and practices are most common in situations involving a high degree of risk, chance and uncertainty, and during times of personal or social stress or crisis, when events seem to be beyond human control. However what is or is not superstitious is relative. One person's belief's can be another's superstitions.

All religious beliefs and practices may be considered superstition by unbelievers and we as Christians have to be very careful of what we believe.

Lots of practices which surrounded baptism, were superstitious. Instead of baptism being a sign of God's grace and goodness, some people said that it was also a necessary practice to prevent you going to hell. So babies who died without baptism were refused burial in consecrated ground.

There are still many practices surrounding Holy Communion which are utterly superstitious. There is the idea you have to be confirmed, and the fact that you should only take Holy Communion once a day.

None of these are found in the pages of scripture and yet they have found their way into the teaching of parts of the church and the faith of some Christians for many years.

This brings us to the big question of what is faith. The Christian faith is about answering the question – who is Jesus to you? Few people can seriously doubt that Jesus existed because there is too much evidence from the Bible and from historical records. But the big question is – who do you say he was? For many people Jesus was a good man or prophet. For other people Jesus was a misguided man who ended up like many others who said dangerous things. Christians believe that Jesus is the Son of God, and from that one belief we can look at Jesus and see what God is like. Christian faith starts from Christ – Jesus Christ – and trust in him is all we need.

This is not superstition, because although I would agree that for many the idea of Jesus is irrational there are many things which are irrational but true. Belief in Jesus does require faith but not everything which we do not understand is superstition or rubbish. We have to look carefully at what is superstitious rubbish and not true, and what is true even though it may require faith to believe it because we do not have absolute proof. Christian faith is something for which we have no proof and yet from the humble acknowledgement of who Jesus is, faith can grow in an amazing and remarkable way, almost imperceptibly. What Jesus is saying is that there is no excuse for anybody not to believe. We don't have to swallow a theological textbook and sign up to thousands of beliefs and practices – we are called to simply trust in Jesus and who he is.

From those humble beginnings the truth can grow and take root in our lives. Our faith might have humble beginnings and yet it cannot be dismissed, it has a destiny. Our faith might be small and insignificant and yet God can transform our meagre faith into something beyond our expectations. It is not the size of our faith that matters but the quality of the person in whom we place our faith –Jesus. There are things we might get wrong along the way, ideas which might creep in and which we have to clear out every now and then. This is because we are a people on the way, not a people who have arrived. Faith is learning to live with the questions we cannot answer, in the light of the answers we have. The kingdom has started but it has not yet arrived. There is so much for all of us to learn and yet we know that we can trust the one holds our grain of faith securely in his hand.
